AUGUST 2026

HOUGH FOUNDATION

The Hough Foundation has been a cornerstone of support for our local community, dedicated to enriching the lives of elementary school students and their families. By providing vital resources, ranging from early childhood education tools and basic emergency needs, to engaging after-school enrichment programs, the foundation ensures that every child can thrive both in and out of the classroom. Their holistic approach to community care addresses systemic barriers, fostering a supportive environment where local youth can discover their full potential and build a brighter future.

A central element of their impact is the dedicated partnership with the Family Service Center, which serves as a trusted hub for families navigating difficult financial or personal seasons. From providing warm winter coats and school supplies, to assisting with emergency housing or utility needs, the foundation walks alongside families to create a network of stability. By directly strengthening the household, the Hough Foundation ensures that students can walk into school each day focused, confident, and ready to learn.

To support these life-changing programs, the Hough Foundation is hosting its highly anticipated "Sip &

Stroll" event on Saturday, August 15, 2026. This fantastic evening invites community members to come together, enjoy local tastings, and explore the neighborhood while raising funds for local youth. It's a perfect opportunity to enjoy a memorable night out with friends and neighbors while directly investing in the success, well-being, and resilience of our local kids. You can learn more about this event and the foundation's incredible work at houghfoundation.org.

Just a Medicare Minute:

Providence Health Plan Exits Most Insurance Business in 2027

Providence has announced that Providence Health Plan will transition out of most of its health insurance lines of business beginning in 2027. While all coverage and services continue without interruption through 2026, the majority of Individual, Family, and Employer Group plans will end, requiring members to find new coverage.

For Providence doctors and hospitals, this transition means they will no longer rely on a proprietary health plan, pushing the system to join external insurance networks so patients can keep receiving care locally.

Providence doctors, hospitals, and clinic networks will be directly impacted in the following ways as the changes unfold:

- Continuity of Care for 2026: All existing coverage, provider contracts, and network relationships will remain completely unchanged and operational through the end of 2026. Patients can see their doctors as usual.
- Transition to External Networks: As the Providence Health Plan is phased out, Providence's clinics and hospitals are actively working to join the provider networks of other major national health insurance carriers. This ensures patients switching to new insurers can continue to access Providence providers.
- Medicare Advantage Shift: Providence plans to continue serving its Medicare Advantage members past 2026 via a finalized partnership with an unspecified, larger national insurer.
- Medicaid and Commercial Exits: All Individual, ACA Marketplace, and Employer-Sponsored plans will not be renewed.

Providence leadership cites rising operational costs, regulatory pressures, and the difficulty of a regional nonprofit competing against massive national insurers as the primary reasons behind this difficult decision.
